

I moved to my home 3 years ago. I was always wondering why I kept hearing little children at night. I would always think how come parents let their children out so late. Until one day my neighbor friend told me the house next door to me had burned down & two little girls had burned inside & died. I asked if she ever heard children playing late at night and she told me sometimes she sees children playing in the back alley & some strange stuff has been happening at her home. One day I saw her daughter playing with a little girl in her yard & I asked my neighbor your daughter has friends over today? she said no children but my own. Another time while out in my back yard it was 10:00pm, I was getting my dog in the house when I felt a tug on my pant leg I turned to see what was there & I saw nothing.
